LINE OF FIRE

As we progress with de-blinding, it is crucial we are on the defensive, being aware of potential pinch point line of fire injuries. Awareness is your first defense against line of fire injuries. Be alert to changing conditions where the line of fire zone exists.

Remind workers to stay clear of hazards by using flagging, pre job briefing and maintaining effective communication during planning and execution of the work.

Continue to enhance teamwork through identifying the steps, hazards and controls for your specific jobs. Identifying change, re--grouping, communicating and updating / modifying your controls.

The key to avoiding injuries is hazard recognition, evaluation and control/ elimination of line of fire & pinch-points associated with each task performed

Don't rush you don't end up speeding up the work, you just speed up your chances of an incident.
