

the Ursa Major Facts

June 23 Night Shift
June 24 Day Shift
DAY 60

SAFETY FOCUS: MAINTAIN FOCUS

It is easy to become distracted as work starts to wrap up, but it is crucial to stay focused on working safely. Completing any task while distracted puts both you, and those working around you at risk. It takes constant effort to stay focused, but by staying focused on safety you can complete shutdown injury free!

Keys to Maintaining Focus:

- Identify potential distractions — Take the time to identify and mitigate distractions such as poor housekeeping and congestions, prior to starting your work.
- Plan the work, work the plan – Having a plan in place will give you a mental check list to follow during each task.
- Be fully prepared to start the task — Have all PPE, tools and materials you will require to complete the task prior to starting it.
- Take Breaks – Take a moment to step away from the task you are working on to re-hydrate and re-focus.
- Take your time — In focusing your attention on getting the task done, you are losing focus on what matters most — your safety.

SAFETY HEALTH & ENVIRONMENT

	Previous 24 Hours	Total to Date	First Aid	Record. Injury
June 23 @ 6:00
URSA MAJOR
Med Center Visits	1	76
of Injuries	0	50	42	8
of Incidents	1	94
Shifts Injury Free		0

URSA MAJOR
SAFETY COMMUNICATION

Over the last few shifts, there have been observations where workers are not using the safest means to work overhead. We have workers handing material in structure ladders and also standing above the approved rung on step ladders. Everyone must stop and do a good LMRA to ensure they are about to do their task the safest way. In both instances they would probably have reassessed their method. As well, there were other workers there who should have interacted with them.

FAMILY MATTERS.

Fort McMurray

Mon. Evening Chance of thundershowers 22°C Feels like 25	Mon. Overnight Variable cloudiness 13°C Feels like 12	Tues. Morning Cloudy periods 16°C Feels like 15	Tues. Afternoon Variable cloudiness 25°C Feels like 28
--	---	---	--

LEADER'S QUESTION TO WORKERS:

What potential distractions could you be faced with today and how can you mitigate them?

Horton CB&I welders completing their daily toolbox talks after morning stretches Quadra confined space monitor Kenny Kennedy being recognized for outstanding work keeping everyone safe in his man way, while keeping the area safe and tidy while the man way empty.